Always at the forefront of the health and beauty industry, Caree Ludwar and the New Beauty team are thrilled to be the third facility in the province to offer CoolSculpting — an innovative, non-invasive procedure that has quickly become one of the most sought-after inch-loss treatments in North America.

"This is absolutely amazing," said Caree, who experienced significant results after just one treatment. "I had to replace all of my bras because I went down a couple sizes. I also bought a bikini, something I wouldn't have normally felt comfortable in."

Developed and marketed by Zeltiq Aesthetics, CoolSculpting selectively targets localized fat deposits (such as abdominal fat, love handles, back fat, "muffin tops," and the bulge above C-Section scars) and reduces them by chilling them to just above freezing. It's done gradually and without causing any harm to the surrounding tissues.

"Unlike liposuction, which can attain similar results, CoolSculpting is completely non-invasive so the patient can return to normal activities immediately," says Caree, who notes that patients may start to see changes as quickly as three weeks after their treatment, but will experience the most dramatic results after two months.

"The body continues to flush fat cells for up to four months. It is absolutely phenomenal. It really works!"
